Country chapter for OECD series Benefits and Wages (www.oecd.org/els/social/workincentives)

As from 1.1.2009 Slovakia has joined the Euro zone; the national currency became the Euro (EUR).
In 2010, the average worker earned EUR 9 324.78.

2. Unemployment insurance

The employee has mandatory unemployment insurance and self employed person could be voluntary insured person in unemployment.

The natural person having attained 16 years of age may be voluntarily insured in unemployment, who has permanent residence, permit for transient residence or permit for permanent residence on the territory of the Slovak Republic.

Unemployment insurance does not apply for recipients of disability benefit for the reason of decrease in ability to carry out gainful activities by more than 70%, for recipients of old-age benefit and early old-age benefit and for specific categories of employees (prosecutor, nominated civil servant, etc.). The recipients of disability benefit with the decrease in ability to carry out gainful activities between 40-70% (employees or voluntary insured persons) are covered by unemployment insurance and have the same conditions like other employees. The contribution rate is 1% for employee, 1% for employer and 2% for voluntary insured person.

The payment rate is 50 % of daily assessment basis.

There is no any preference for payment rates or period paid out of benefit depend on the ages or family status of claimant.

2.1 Conditions for receipt

Act on Social Insurance does not define reason of unemployment of insured person that mean same rules are used for redundancy person who has got notice from employer and for person who has given resignation at work.

The most important condition for pay out unemployment benefit is staying in register of jobseekers. According the Act on Employment Services the jobseeker is obligated to cooperate with the Labour Office, active looking for job and available in 3 days time interval on request of the Labour Office.

2.1.1 Employment conditions

Insuree is entitled to unemployment benefit, if he had unemployment insurance for at least three years within the past four years before being included to registry of unemployed citizens looking for employment or for at least two years within the past four years before being included to registry of unemployed citizens looking for employment in case of seasonal workers (i.e. workers with term contract). For the insuree, who met conditions of claiming unemployment benefit, the claim to unemployment benefit arises since the day of being included into the registry of unemployed citizens.

2.1.2 Contribution conditions

The same conditions as introduced in previous article. An eligibility criterion of necessary number of years for unemployment insurance is also applying for voluntary insurance.

2.2 Calculation of benefit amount

2.2.1 Calculation of gross benefit

After the law-settled conditions were met the amount of unemployment benefit is 50% of the daily assessment basis. Daily assessment basis (DAB) to determine the amount of unemployment benefit is a quotient of the sum of assessment bases (AB) to pay premiums for unemployment insurance (the sums from which the insurance was paid) attained by the insuree in the conclusive period and the number of days of the conclusive period.

$$\text{DAB} = \frac{\sum \text{AB in determining period}}{\text{number of days of determining period}}$$

Calculation of unemployment benefit in one month:

$$50\% \times \text{DAB} \times \text{number of days in month}$$

The average unemployment benefit paid in 2009 (second half) amounts to EUR 286,6 per month. The average unemployment benefit paid in 2010 (first half) amounts to EUR 282,5 per month.

Since 1st January 2006 the maximum amount of unemployment benefit is not limited by the daily assessment basis and it depends on the sum of premiums that one pays for unemployment insurance. So the sum of the unemployment benefit depends only on the parameters used in the formula for the calculation of this benefit. However indirectly maximum amount of benefit was in time period 2006-2007 determined by maximum assessment bases for paying contribution. Since 1st January 2008 maximum ceiling was increased from the original 3-times the average wage in the SR economy to 4-times the average wage in the SR economy. In context with this change is setting maximum daily assessment base for calculation of benefit (it means that the upper mentioned change has no influence on the maximum sum of benefit) :

$$\text{MDAB} = \frac{\text{3-times general assessment bases}}{365}$$

General assessment base in this case is similar like for maximum ceiling for paying contribution used half year general assessment bases (from January to June average wage two years before and from July to December one year before).

2.2.2 Income and earnings disregards for benefit recipients and those starting a new job

One of conditions of claim to an unemployment benefit is including to registry of unemployed citizens looking for employment (register of jobseekers).

2.3 Tax treatment of benefit and interaction with other benefits

Not taxable.

Insuree is not entitled to disbursement of unemployment benefit in the period of time in which he is entitled for payment of sickness benefits, nursing benefits, maternity allowances and parental allowance.

When the retroactive unemployment benefit is approved also for a period when the beneficiary was paid the material need benefit and the additions to this benefit, the approved unemployment benefit for this period will be reckoned with the material need benefit which has been already paid.

2.4 Benefit duration and waiting periods

- Where the unemployment benefit has been paid to the beneficiary for the entire supported period of unemployment (6 months or 4 months for seasonal workers), a new entitlement to this benefit shall arise soonest after the expiration of three years or two years since the day when the preceding entitlement finished after the condition of at least three years of unemployment insurance or at least two years of unemployment insurance in case of seasonal workers over the last four years before entry to the Jobseekers Register has been satisfied;
- Where the beneficiary has not been paid unemployment benefit for the entire supported period of unemployment (6 months or 4 months for seasonal workers) and the insured person was discarded from the Jobseekers Register because of the beginning of the activity as the employee and within a period shorter than 3 years, the entitlement to the payment of unemployment benefit shall arise at the amount of the previous unemployment benefit, and shall terminate upon the lapse of the remaining part of the supported period of unemployment;
- Where the beneficiary
 - has been paid unemployment benefit at least 3 months
 - has been put off the Jobseekers Register on account of undertaking the activity of an employee
 - has claimed in written the lump-sum payment of 50% of the unemployment benefit for the remaining part of the supported period the insuree is entitled to 50 % of the rest of the untaken unemployment benefit.

Social Insurance Agency is obligated to accept every application form regardless of claimant has right on this benefit or not. However first application form on unemployment benefit is sent through the Labour Office as part of registration procedure of new jobseeker. Social Insurance Agency sent in decision the supported period - client knows this reality and he consider if he has any other question (after expired or possibility to continue of pay out benefit) he rather use verbal client information services of Social Insurance Agency.

2.5 Treatment of particular groups

2.5.1 Young persons

Entitlement conditions for the unemployment benefit and the benefit duration are uniform for every natural person, except of recipients of disability benefit for the reason of decrease in ability to carry out gainful activities by more than 70%, old-age benefit and early old-age benefit and specific categories of employees (prosecutor, nominated civil servant, etc.)

2.5.2 Older workers

Entitlement conditions for the unemployment benefit and the benefit duration are uniform for every natural person except of recipients of disability benefit for the reason of decrease in ability to carry out gainful activities by more than 70%, old-age benefit and early old-age benefit and specific categories of employees (prosecutor, nominated civil servant, etc.) ... The insuree must satisfy the statutory conditions (irrespective of whether s/he was insured for unemployment obligatorily or voluntarily).

2.5.3 Others if applicable

There are no special rules for lone parents and immigrants.

Unemployment insurance is mandatory also for part-time employees. They have same eligibility criteria for benefit, payment rate and contribution rate such as employees (some difference is only for minimum assessment base for paying contribution, see point 10.3).

For self-employed persons is subsystem of unemployment insurance voluntary. They could become voluntary insured persons.

Unemployment insurance does not apply for recipients of disability benefit for the reason of decrease in ability to carry out gainful activities by more than 70%. (Unemployment insurance does not apply also for recipients of old-age benefit and early old-age benefit and for specific categories of employees (prosecutor, nominated civil servant, etc.).) The recipients of disability benefit with the decrease in ability to carry out gainful activities between 40-70% (employees or voluntary insured persons) are covered by unemployment insurance and have the same conditions like other employees.

4. Social assistance

4.1 Conditions for receipt

On 1 January 2004 the Act No. 599/2003 Coll. on assistance in material need and on amending of some acts went into force, which in part superseded the existing Act on social assistance in the section on assistance in material need.

The Act on assistance in material need guarantees a citizen, who is in material need, provision for basic living conditions through the benefit in material need. In addition to the assistance in material need, the act makes provision for allowances to the benefit, namely the health care allowance, housing allowance, activation allowance and protective allowance, which are component parts of the assistance in material need.

The Act on material need defines material need as a state, in which the income of the citizen and the natural persons jointly assessed with the citizen, does not achieve the subsistence minimum, and the citizen and the jointly assessed natural persons are unable to secure or increase the income through their own endeavours.

For the purposes of assessing material need, providing for the basic living conditions and assisting in material need the following natural persons are jointly assessed:

- the husband and the wife,
- the parents and their dependent children living with them in the household,
- the parents and their children aged up to 25 years, who have no income, or have an income not exceeding the amount of the minimum wage, living with their parents in the household, with the exception of the children, to whom, during the period of registration as job seekers an entitlement to unemployment benefit arose and the children who are in receipt of invalidity pension.

The claimants do not have to meet job-search or work-availability in order to be eligible for the benefit.

4.2 Calculation of benefit amount

To determine the claim to assistance in material need the subsistence minimum amounts are relevant as they form the basis of the income test. For 2010, these amounts are:

MLS monthly (since 1.7.2010)

EUR 168, 20 per month for an individual with more than four children
EUR 212, 30 per month for couples with more than four children

The amounts of benefit, referred to above, are increased by EUR 13,50 per month, where the citizen or the natural person, jointly assessed with the citizen in material need, is a pregnant woman. The increase is payable to a pregnant woman from the start of the fourth month of pregnancy, where she has substantiated her pregnancy with the production of a pregnant woman's card and where she regularly visits a pregnant women's advice centre throughout her pregnancy.

The Benefit for person in material need with a child up to one year, EUR 13,50 per month and also for person whose produce that immediately before the birth of this child had provided basic living conditions and assistance in material need. The total calculated amount (see 4.2.1) of benefits and allowances will be increased by this benefit.

Based on this amount, the upper limit of the monthly fee paid by parents for a child currently must not exceed EUR 6,35.

In pre-school facilities which include kindergartens and special kindergartens (establish by municipality), parents pay a monthly fee per child to cover part of the costs related to the material provision for the education process in a pre-school facility, up to 15 % of the amount of the subsistence minimum for a dependent child, currently must not exceed EUR 12,7.

The legal representative of child does not pay the monthly fee upon fulfilment of the following conditions:

- the child is one year before the compulsory school attendance,
- if the legal representative of child is recipients of assistance in material need,
- child who is placed in the facility following a court decision

On the base of decision of kindergartens founder (local government authorities or municipality) the legal representative of child does not pay the monthly fee upon fulfilment of the following conditions:

- child has interrupted attendance in kindergarten for more than 30 consecutive calendar days due to illness or family reasons, demonstrably,
- child did not attended the kindergarten at the time of school holidays or adjourned their kindergartens due to the founder or other serious reasons, in such cases the legal representative pay proportion of determining the allowance.

The actual amount of fee, in the stipulated range, is determined by the director of the pre-school facility/ kindergarten or special kindergarten/, with a possibility to have the fee differentiated, for example, according to the number of siblings in the kindergarten, the child's age, duration of stay in the pre-school facility, etc.

The above scales for the fee paid by the parent, are laid down in the regulation on pre-school facilities.

The childcare fees paid by parents are not tax deductible.

Fees are not taken into account when determining entitlement to other benefits, including social assistance.

7.2 Child-care benefits

Parental allowance is provided under the Act No. 571/2009 Coll. as amended in the later regulations.

7.2.1 Conditions for receipt

7.2.2 Calculation of benefit amount

7.2.2.1 Calculation of gross benefit

The parental allowance in amount of SKK 4 110 was provided till August 31, 2006. Since September 1, 2006 increased to SKK 4 440. This amount is paid until 31 August 2007. From 1 September 2007 the amount of parental allowance is SKK 4 560. In 2009 it was EUR 164,22 on a monthly basis.

Reference date for all information is July 1st 2010

Country chapter for OECD series Benefits and Wages (www.oecd.org/els/social/workincentives)

The parental allowance is unified since September 1, 2006. It means the same amount is paid for working and also inactive parents. There is no partial allowance for the second parent.

Since January 1, 2010 parental allowance – two amounts:

- EUR 164,22 per month up to the age of 3 years.
- EUR 256 per month up to the age of 2 years to parent, who have pursued economic activity before a birth of a child and he/she was covered by sickness insurance at least 270 days.

While in receipt of parental allowance can not be a parent to work. (this change applies only to the year 2010)

If the beneficiary paid for the entire calendar month maternity benefits or comparable benefits as parents in a Member State for an amount less than the amount of parental allowance, EUR 256, parental allowance during the period of payment of parent or comparable benefits as parent in the Member State in the amount determined as the difference between the amount of parental allowance, EUR 256 and the amount of parent or similar benefits as a parent in a Member State.

If the person was entitled because of the diligence of the same child is entitled to parental allowance upon payment of the contribution of the parent under a special regulation, the amount of parental allowance is 75% parental contribution (€ 164.22 or € 256)

a) within three years of age or

b) three years of age until the expiry of assessment under a special regulation, the longest of the calendar month in which the child with long-term health reaches six years of age from the calendar month following the calendar month for which parental allowance paid in the amount of 75% parental contribution (€ 164.22 or € 256), the amount of parental allowance is € 164.22 if they still met the conditions for entitlement to parental allowance.

Parental allowance is discharge of income tax of physical persons.

9. Lone-parent benefits

The system of social insurance does not provide a specific benefit designed for a lone parent. If the insured woman is a lone parent, the duration of receipt of maternity allowance (sickness insurance benefit) is extended, continuing beyond the lapse of the stipulated duration of entitlement to receive maternity allowance – 28 weeks; the right to maternity allowance in this case expires upon the completion of 37 weeks from the rise of the right to maternity allowance (in case of other insuree, who has taken the child in care, and is lone, the right to maternity allowance expires upon the completion of 31 weeks from the rise of the right to maternity allowance, but not longer than until completion of eight months of the child's age).

The government provides support to the lone parent in case the absent parent does not pay the alimonies for more than three months in a row. To be eligible for this support, the lone parent has to be a citizen of the Slovak Republic and their average wage cannot exceed subsistence minimum 2,2 times.

9.1 Conditions for receipt

The legislative act which sets the income limit of 2.2 times the subsistence minimum for lone parents to be eligible for support provided by the government is effective from 2008. The actual amount which the lone parent may receive from the government is 1.2 times the subsistence minimum for a dependent child (subsistence minimum for dependent children was 2 460 SKK in 2008, 84,52 EUR in 2009 and 84,61 EUR in 2010 it is re-evaluated annually), but each case is evaluated individually. If the parent does receive the government help, eligibility for the government help is re-evaluated every 6 months.

9.2 Calculation of benefit amount

9.2.1 Calculation of gross benefit

The support exists from January 1, 2005. The highest amount a lone parent could receive has always been 1.2 times the subsistence minimum for a dependent child. Subsistence minimum for a dependent child:

January 1, 2005 – June 30, 2005 it was 2080 SKK

July 1, 2005 – June 30, 2006 it was 2150 SKK

July 1, 2006 – June 30, 2007 it was 2270 SKK

July 1, 2007 – June 30, 2008 it was 2340 SKK

July 1, 2008 – June 30, 2009 it was 2460 SKK

July 1, 2009 – June 30, 2010 it was 84,52 EUR

From July 1, 2010 it is 84,61 EUR.

10. Tax system

10.1 Income tax

10.1.1 Tax allowances and credits

10.1.1.1 Standard allowances

- Basic relief: An allowance for all taxpayers is set at 22.5* times the minimum living standard (MLS) for a basic adult as of January 1, 2009 (EUR 4 025,70 €). In 2009, the basic personal allowance for taxpayers with gross earnings net of employee social security contributions in excess of the threshold of EUR 15 387,12 per year ($15\,387.12 = 86^* \times \text{MLS}^{}$) is gradually withdrawn. If gross earnings net of employee social security contributions exceed EUR 15 387.12 the personal allowance is calculated as 44 times the minimum living standard minus 0.25 times gross earnings net of employee social security contributions. The basic personal allowance reaches 0 if the gross earnings net of employee social security contributions amount to EUR 31 489.92 per year (employee's monthly gross wage of approximately EUR 2 961). The value of the basic tax allowance cannot become negative.

The degressive tax allowance is taken into account only once a year (when the tax return is filed or when the annual clearing is performed). Monthly tax prepayments during the year are therefore not affected.

- Marital status relief: An additional allowance is given to the principal earner in respect of a spouse living in a common household if the spouse earns no more than EUR 4 025,70 €. As from January 1 2007, the value of the spouse allowance depends on the gross earnings net of employee social security contributions of both the principal and the spouse.

If the principal's gross earnings net of employee social security contributions in 2009 are lower or equal to EUR 31 489,92 ($=176 \times \text{MLS}^{}$) and the spouse's gross earnings net of employee social security contributions are lower than 4 025, 70 €, the spouse allowance is 4 025,70 €. If the gross earnings net of employee social security contributions of the spouse exceed 4 025,70 € the spouse allowance is 0. If the principal's gross earnings net of employee social security contributions exceed EUR 31 489,92 ($=176 \times \text{MLS}^{}$), the spouse allowance is calculated as 66.5 times MLS minus 0.25 times the principal's gross earnings net of employee social security contributions. This amount is reduced by the spouse's gross earnings net of employee social security contributions. The value of the spouse allowance cannot become negative as well as basic relief.

The degressive tax allowance is taken into account only once a year (when the tax return is filed or when the annual clearing is performed). Monthly tax prepayments during the year are therefore not affected.

- Relief for social and health security contributions: Employee's social security contributions (see Section 2.1.) are deductible for income tax purposes.
 - * (the formulae for the calculation of the basic and marital status relief were changed temporarily in 2009 and 2010 as a result of the adoption of anti-crisis measures).
 -  (basic and marital status relief in 2010 are calculated according MLS valid to 1.1.2009 (EUR 178.92) what leads into abolishment of their automatic indexation only in 2010 tax period).

10.1.1.2 Standard tax credits

- Relief for children: The prior allowance for children has been replaced by a non-wastable tax credit as from January 2004. As from July 2007, the monthly tax credit is indexed as result of a new indexation rule. The tax credit is automatically indexed by MLS growth and is effective as from the 1st of July when also the new amount of MLS comes into force. During the period from 1st January to 30th June 2010 monthly tax credit was EUR 20.00 per child, from 1st July 2010 the amount of tax credit was EUR 19,32, , from 1st July 2010 it is 20,02 € . The tax credit for each dependent child is deducted from the tax liability; if the credit exceeds the tax liability, the excess will be paid to the taxpayer. In order to receive this credit, the parent must annually earn at least six times the minimum monthly wage, which for 2010 is set at EUR 307,70 (the total annual earnings must therefore be at least EUR 1 846.2). The credit can be taken only by one partner. It can be taken by one partner for part of the tax period (year) and by the other partner for the rest of the tax period (year); this choice will have to hold for all dependent children. (For the purposes of this Report, it is assumed that the credit is claimed by the principal wage earner).
- Non-wastable tax credit – the employee tax credit (ETC) is effective as from 1.1.2009 and is targeted at low-income workers whose wages are subject to the payment of social and health insurance contributions. The amount of tax credit depends upon the employee's earnings and the number of months worked.

In order to receive this tax credit, the employee must fulfil the entitlement criteria which are:

- the employee's earnings over the tax period must be at least 6 times higher than the minimum wage, which for 2010 is set at EUR 307.07 per month,
- the employee must have worked for at least 6 months over the tax period (the conditions of month worked is considered to be fulfilled when only one hour is worked during that month).

The ETC is a non-wastable tax credit as is the child tax credit. The value of the ETC depends on the level of the employee's earnings. If earnings are between at least 6 times of the minimum wage and 12 times of the minimum wage, the credit is calculated as 19 per cent of the difference between the basic allowance (EUR 4 025.7) and the tax base (gross earnings net of employee SSC), evaluated at the level of the minimum wage (EUR 3 199.20). If earnings exceed 12 times the minimum wage, then the ETC is calculated as 19 per cent of the difference of the basic allowance and the tax base (gross earnings net of employee SSC). The tax credit is zero when the tax base (gross earnings net of employee SSC) is equal to or higher than the basic allowance.

The highest value of the employee tax credit amounts to EUR 157.04 per year; this maximum value is received by employees with income between one half of the minimum wage and the full minimum wage, provided that the employee has worked for 12 months. As the employee tax credit is designed to benefit working individuals, its amount is adequately reduced for employees that have worked less months in the calendar year. Due to extensive paperwork it was decided that the tax credit will be paid within the framework of the annual clearing of the tax advances or when a tax return is filed.

10.1.2 Income tax schedule (central government income tax)

From January 1, 2004, the progressive personal income tax rates were abolished and replaced by a flat tax rate of 19%.

10.1.3 State and local income taxes

No separate state and local income tax exist.

10.2 Treatment of family income

The tax unit is the individual.

10.3 Social security contributions and payroll taxes

10.3.1 Contributions payable by employees and benefit recipients

Unemployment insurance is mandatory also for part-time employees. Act on Social Insurance defined monthly minimum assessment base for paying contributions for full-time employees and voluntary insured person. Monthly minimum assessment base was minimum wage. For employee who has appointed partial time in his/her labour contract according to the Labour code (§ 49) this monthly minimum assessment base was not applicable that means he has real monthly assessment base (could be lower than monthly minimum wage). Since January 1st 2010 Act on Social Insurance was renewed. The provision which established the minimum assessment base of employee as minimum wage was canceled. The monthly minimum assessment base of all categories of employees (part-time, full-time, etc.) is employee's real monthly wage. The minimum monthly assessment base of self employed persons and voluntary insured persons changed from minimum wage to 44,2 % of average monthly wage two years ago since January 1st, 2010.

Compulsory contributions of 13.4 per cent of gross wages and salaries are paid by all employees into government operated schemes. The total is made up as follows:

-- Health Insurance	4.0 per cent
-- Social Insurance	9.4 per cent of which:
-- Sickness	1.4 per cent
-- Retirement	4.0 per cent
-- Disability	3.0 per cent
-- Unemployment	1.0 per cent

There are maximum assessment bases MSSAB (maximum threshold for contributions to apply) that apply to social security contributions. From 2004 these MSSAB are no longer fixed values but depend upon the average wages (AW).

According to the law, maximum assessment bases MSSAB in the first six months of the year for old-age insurance, disability insurance and unemployment insurance are calculated as: $4 \times AW(t-2)$ (for sickness insurance $1.5 \times AW(t-2)$), in the second half of the year it is $4 \times AW(t-1)$ (for sickness insurance $1.5 \times AW(t-1)$). Average monthly MSSAB for health insurance is calculated as: $3 \times AW(t-2)$. Where $AW(t-2)$ is the average wage in national economy two years ago and $AW(t-1)$ is the average wage in national economy before the current tax year. The average wage is determined by the Statistical Office of the Slovak Republic. $AW(2009)$ is EUR 744,5.

The maximum assessment base for pension insurance (old age insurance and disability insurance) and for unemployment insurance has been increased from three to four times the average wage in the national economy since January 2008.

The assessment base for a full-time employee is his real monthly wage (also if actual wage in particular month is lower than minimum wage (e.g.: due to sickness). Since January 1st 2010 were the exceptions in minimum assessment base (of disabled employees, etc.) cancelled.

10.3.2 Contributions payable by employers

The total contribution for employers is 35.2 per cent of gross wages and salaries. The contribution comprises the health insurance contribution (10 per cent of gross wages and salaries) and the social insurance contribution (25.2 per cent). The social insurance rate reflects contributions to sickness insurance (1.4 per cent), disability insurance (3 per cent), old-age insurance (14 per cent), the Guaranteed Fund (0.25 per cent), accident insurance (0.8 per cent until the end of 2011 and between 0.3 and 2.1 per cent from 2012 depending on the category of risk associated with the employer's activities), for unemployment insurance (1 per cent) and to the Reserve Fund (4.75 per cent).

Since January 2005, Slovakia has introduced the privately managed fully funded pillar. This means that a given proportion (9 percentage points) of social contributions paid by the employer for retirement insurance flows directly to the private pension funds and not to the Social insurance agency as in previous years. Private pension funds are treated outside of general government; these contributions are therefore not taken into account in the calculations of average and marginal tax rates. For the purposes of this Report, the total contribution rate for employers is then 26.2 per cent to the Social Insurance Agency and 9 per cent to the private pension funds.

The MSSAB also applies to the employer's SSC. The next table presents the annual values of MSSAB:

	Formula for MSSAB	Value of MSSAB (same for the second half of 2009 and the first half of 2010)
- Health Insurance	3.0 x AW (t-2)	26 029.08

12.1 Policy changes introduced: 2nd July 2009 – 1st July 2010

Since February 1st 2010 to the length of unemployment insurance is counted the period when the mandatory unemployment insurance is interrupted because of parental leave.

Monthly minimum assessment base of self employed persons and voluntary insured persons changed to 44,2 % of average monthly wage two years ago since January 1st, 2010.

12.2 Future policy changes announced since 1st July 2009

Since September 1st 2010, insuree is entitled to unemployment benefit, if he had unemployment insurance for at least two years within the last three years (for workers with term contracts remains previous conditions).

ANNEX

DEFINITION OF SOCIAL SECURITY CONTRIBUTIONS AND PAYROLL TAXES.

The following text has been adapted from Annex A of the OECD Revenue Statistics.

Social security contributions to general government

Classified here are all compulsory payments that confer an entitlement to receive a (contingent) future social benefit. Such payments are usually earmarked to finance social benefits and are often paid to institutions of general government that provide such benefits. However, such earmarking is not part of the definition of social security contributions and is not required for a tax to be classified here. However, conferment of an entitlement is required for a tax to be classified under this heading. So, levies on income or payroll that are earmarked for social security funds but do not confer an entitlement to benefit are excluded from this heading and shown under personal income taxes or taxes on payroll and workforce. Taxes on other bases, such as goods and services, which are earmarked for social security benefits are not shown here [...] because they generally confer no entitlement to social security benefits.

Contributions for the following types of social security benefits would, inter alia, be included: unemployment insurance benefits and supplements, accident, injury and sickness benefits, old-age, disability and survivors' pensions, family allowances, reimbursements for medical and hospital expenses or provision of hospital or medical services. Contributions may be levied on both employees and employers.

Social security contributions paid to institutions outside general government

Contributions to social insurance schemes which are not institutions of general government and to other types of insurance schemes, provident funds, pension funds, friendly societies or other saving schemes [are included here if they are compulsory or quasicompulsory (e.g., by virtue of agreement with professional and union organisations)]. Provident funds are arrangements under which the contributions of each employee and of the corresponding employer on his/her behalf are kept in a separate account earning interest and withdrawable under specific circumstances. Pension funds are separately organised schemes negotiated between employees and employers and carry provisions for different contributions and benefits, sometimes more directly tied to salary levels and length of service than under social security schemes.

Payroll taxes

This heading covers taxes paid by employers or employees either as a proportion of payroll or as a fixed amount per person, and which do not confer entitlement to social benefits. Examples of taxes classified here are the United Kingdom national insurance surcharge (introduced in 1977), the Swedish payroll tax (1969-1979), and the Austrian Contribution to the Family Burden Equalisation Fund and Community Tax.

Employment services - active labour market measures

Since the first of July 2009 were taken these amending and supplementing the Act No. 5/2004 Coll. on employment services:

I. Act no. 49/2009 Coll. amending and supplementing Act No. 5/2004 Coll. on employment services and on amendment and supplementing of certain acts as amended, and amending and supplementing Act no. 311/2001 Coll., the Labour Code – as of 1 March 2009

a) New active measures on the labour market

➤ Allowance to encourage employment sustainability

The allowance is granted to an employer who cannot assign work to employees due to serious operational reasons and provides them with a wage compensation of at least 60%. The allowance is dedicated for payment of statutory levies to insurance funds on healthcare and social insurance to be paid by the employer and employees who have it added to the paid wage compensation. The allowance may be provided for a maximum of 60 calendar day in total per year.

The aim of the measure is to prevent or eliminate dismissal of employees by an employer who has to deal with the consequences of the impact of the global financial and economic crisis.

➤ Allowance to encourage creation of vacancies

The allowance is granted to an employer who has been carrying out his or her business activity for at least 1 year and who creates a vacancy for a job seeker registered in the register of job seekers for at least 3 months and who retains the job for at least 12 months. A monthly allowance in the Region of Bratislava is 15% and in other regions 30% of the total cost of labour calculated on the basis of the average wage within the Slovak economy, however, a maximum of 50% of the total cost of labour of the hired employee. The allowance may be granted for a maximum of 12 calendar months.

The aim of the measure is to support creation of new vacancies, in particular for citizens who were dismissed from their original job by their original employer as being redundant as a result of the global financial and economic crisis.

➤ Allowance to employee wages

The allowance is provided to an employee who was registered in the register of job seekers for at least 3 months before being hired to a new job, who was granted a hardship benefit and extra allowances to the hardship benefit, and who found the new job on his or her own, and his or her wage is less than 1.7 multiple of the subsistence minimum (EUR 304.16). The allowance is provided on a monthly basis in the amount of 22% of the average wage of an employee in the Slovak economy during the first 12 months and in the amount of 11% during the remaining period, however, for 22 months at the longest.

The aim of this measure is to motivate unemployed people to search for jobs and accept low-paid jobs.

➤ Allowance to encourage self-employment

The allowance is granted to a job applicant who was registered in the register of job seekers for at least 3 months and who was granted a hardship benefit and who started business as a self-employed person. The allowance is provided to reimburse the advance payments of healthcare insurance for a maximum of 22 months after having documented that the insurance premium had been paid. After elapsing of 18 months from the beginning of the self-employment, the allowance is provided also to reimburse social insurance, however, for a maximum of 4 months. The amount of the allowance is calculated from the minimal assessment base. Any simultaneous provision of other allowances to support self-employment activities is forbidden.

➤ Allowance for self-employment in the field of processing of and trading in agricultural products

The allowance is granted to a job seeker who was registered in the register of job seekers for at least 3 months and who requested to be taken out of the register due to carrying out business activities concerning processing of and trading in agricultural products. The allowance is provided to reimburse levies to insurance funds as in the case of the allowance to encourage self-employment.

The aim of these measures is to increase an interest of job seekers in self-employment possibilities in various areas of business, which are not demanding in terms of initial investments and respective skills, in particular for low-qualified groups of job seekers, and to support processors and traders of domestic agricultural products.

➤ All new allowances are to be granted until the end of 2010 at the longest

b) Further amendments

➤ In respect of establishment of social ventures

The amendment to the Act on employment services established more favourable legislative conditions for a temporary period for legal and natural entities applying for a status of a social venture (e.g. the use of 30% of the financial profit will no longer be required to be documented as used to create new vacancies).

Municipalities, associations of municipalities, self-governing regions and budgetary and subsidized organisations established by a municipality or a self-governing region and founding social ventures may now hire also job seekers other than disadvantaged ones within the obligatory 30% of employed disadvantaged job applicants, which sets out preconditions for incentives in particular for municipalities to establish social ventures.

Note: the temporary provision governing these changes in the field of social ventures was cancelled by a new temporary provision effective as of 1 April 2009.

➤ In respect of investment aid

For a temporary period, the amendment of the Act on employment services liberates the conditions for granting investment aid for creation of new vacancies by not applying the requirement of the average rate of registered unemployment rate.

➤ In respect of labour mobility support

The level of allowance for commuting to work is increased as follows

- up to 30 km – from EUR 36.52 to EUR 50,
- up to 60 km – from EUR 43.16 to EUR 80,
- up to 90 km – from EUR 53.12 to EUR 100,
- up to 120 km – from EUR 69.71 to EUR 110,
- up to 250 km – from EUR 82.99 to EUR 120,
- up to 600 km – from EUR 92.95 to EUR 130,
- over 600 km – from EUR 99.59 to EUR 135.

II. Act no. 108/2009 Coll. amending and supplementing Act no. 461/2009 Coll. on social insurance as amended, and amending and supplementing certain acts – as of 1 April 2009

Act on employment services

The aim of the amendment was to establish a legal framework for enhancing self-employed businesses and making them more efficient, including self-employment activities within protected workshops or protected workplaces; furthermore, to reduce the administrative and financial difficulties related to granting of an allowance reimbursing operation costs of a protected workshop or a protected workplace and allowance reimbursing costs on transportation of employees. The objective was to react to the worsening economic situation resulting from increasingly more serious impacts of the global financial and economic crisis which affected also the field of self-employed activities.

➤ Board for Employment Issues

The scope of competencies of the Board for Employment Issues was enlarged by establishing a committee to assess the efficiency and feasibility of a business plan of applicants for an allowance to encourage self-employment and to check the results of acquired professional skills and practical training of these applicants with the aim to enhance the selection as well as performance of crafts or trades by self-employed persons.

The committee, similarly to the Board, is assumed to be based on a tripartite principle. Given the scope of activities, it is assumed that the representatives of sole traders' organisations (Slovak Craft Industry Federation, Slovak Chamber of Craft and Small Trade, and Slovak Association of Small Businesses) will be actively involved in the assessment process.

➤ In respect of self-employment

The process of evaluation of conditions fulfilment by an applicant for an allowance to encourage self-employment was extended by an opinion of a committee established at the Board for Employment Issues, in order to promote a longer performance or sustainability of crafts, trade and small businesses. This opinion becomes a basis for an Office of Labour, Social Affairs and Family to assess the possibility of concluding an agreement on granting the allowance. At the same time, based on the regional project the Office of Labour, Social Affairs and Family will ensure a practical training of the applicant - job seekers and disabled job seekers – on carrying out and operation of a craft or small trade, including a practical preparation of the business plan and strategy for preparation and development of small trade.

The deadline for repeated granting of allowance is prolonged for a job seeker to three years after elapsing of a two-year period of operating a small trade for which the allowance was granted, in order to strengthen the interest to sustain the opened small trade as well as to prevent abuse of the allowance.

➤ Allowance reimbursing operation costs of a protected workshop or a protected workplace and reimbursing costs on transportation of employees

The periodicity of granting of the allowance changed from quarterly to annually in order to reduce the administrative and financial difficulties related to submission of applications for the allowance and documenting fulfilment of the obligations by an allowance applicant. Applications for the allowance are submitted to an Office of Labour, Social Affairs and Family once a year by 30 April of the respective calendar year following the calendar year to be reimbursed.

➤ In respect of social ventures

The amendment to the Act on employment services stipulated a condition of concluding an employment relationship with an employee, for hiring of which the employer is granted an allowance to encourage creation and sustainability of jobs within a social venture, in the scope of at least one half of the determined weekly work time.

More favourable legislative conditions were established for a temporary period (by the end of 2010)

- a) for the purpose of granting a status of a social venture, when the conditions stipulated by the law do not have to be fulfilled with the exception of an entry of the social venture into the register of social ventures,
- b) for the purpose of assessment of at least 30% obligatory proportion of employed disadvantaged job seekers in the total employee number, selected entities (municipalities, self-governing regions, associations of municipalities, associations of self-governing regions and legal entities established or founded by a municipality or a self-governing region) now may include also job applicants who are not disadvantaged. An allowance will be provided for their employment.

III. The Act no. 266/2009 Coll. amending and supplementing Act no. 528/2008 Coll. on aid and support granted from European Communities Funds, and amending and supplementing Act no. 5/2004 Coll. on employment services and amending and supplementing certain acts, as amended – as of 7 July 2009

As a result of the global financial and economic crisis, protected workshops and protected workplaces found themselves in a situation without financial resources to cover their operation costs and without having access to loans. In order to sustain jobs for citizens with a handicap in protected workshops and protected workplaces despite financial problems, the adopted amendment established conditions for a continuous provision of the allowance reimbursing operation costs of a protected workshop or a protected workplace and reimbursing costs on transportation of employees on a quarterly basis. These costs concern wages and advance payments of healthcare insurance, social insurance and contributions to pension schemes, which are paid by an employer for employees with a handicap. In order to create equal conditions for the scope of reimbursed operation costs for employers who employ citizens with a handicap and citizens with a handicap performing a small trade, the amendment established conditions that would include costs on advance payments of healthcare insurance, social insurance and contribution to pension scheme paid by a self-employed citizen with a handicap into reimbursable costs of a citizen with a handicap carrying out a small trade.

IV. Act no. 52/2010 Coll. amending and supplementing Act no. 5/2004 Coll. on employment services and on amendment and supplementing of certain acts as amended, and amending and supplementing certain acts – as of 1 March 2010
