1. Overview of the tax-benefit system

Sweden has an unemployment insurance consisting of a basic assistance scheme and a voluntary income related scheme for those who are members of an Unemployment Insurance Society. These Societies are closely linked to the trade unions. It is possible to join an Insurance Society without being a member of the trade union or employers organisation. The fee is then slightly higher for the extra cost of administration. There is also a special Unemployment Insurance Society for those who do not want to be members of a trade union. Self-employed can also be insured. The basic assistance is intended for those who are not members of an Unemployment Insurance Society or do not fulfil the employment criteria.

Those with low income from work, unemployment benefit or any other kind of social security transfer income can claim an income tested housing benefit. This benefit is intended for a family with dependent children, but is also open for low-income households beneath the age of 29. For those with neither income nor assets, social assistance can be claimed as the last resort.

1.1. Average Worker wage (AW)

The tax unit is the individual, spouses are taxed separately.

The 2014 level is SEK 408 188 (reported in June 2015). The secretariat estimate of the 2015 level of AW is SEK 421 364.

2. Unemployment insurance

Income related unemployment insurance is voluntary and presupposes membership of an Unemployment Insurance Society.

Payment rate is independent of age. Duration depends from 2007 on family conditions. Duration is 300 days unless you have dependent children, in which case duration is 450 days.

2.1 Conditions for receipt

The recipient must be fit for work and available to work at least 3 hours per day and on average at least 17 hours per week.

If the job loss is voluntary there is a 45 day waiting period before benefits are paid.

The unemployed has to do an active job-search to be entitled to benefits.

2.1.1 Employment conditions

To fulfil the employment condition a recipient must have worked at least 6 months (with at least 80 hours per month) during the last 12 months. A recipient can also work 480 hours during a continuous period of six months (with at least 50 hours work every month). In both cases, if necessary, two months can be replaced by time with parental leave or compulsory military service.

The twelve months mentioned above can be extended due to illness, full time studies, parental leave and compulsory military service.

2.1.2 Contribution conditions

An employee or a self-employed person must have been a member of an Unemployment Insurance Society for the last 12 months. The trade union members pay a fee to the Unemployment Insurance Society through the monthly collection of union fees. There is also a possibility to pay directly to one of the 29 occupational Unemployment Insurance Societies or to a special 30 Society, which is not related to any trade union or employers organisation.

From 2007 there was a new co-financing fee. Each employee had to pay an additional SEK 150-300 each month to contribute to the financing of the Unemployment Insurance. The co-financing fee was lowered in 2008 as a result of lower unemployment and there was a reduction in the fee of SEK 50 from July^{1st} 2009. Due to the increasing unemployment and that members abandoned the trade unions, many of the Unemployment Insurance Societies have increased the co-financing fee in 2009 and 2010. This increase usually did not involve the white-collar societies. The fee was lowered in 2011 and 2012 depending on the trade union. The fee was increased in some unions and decreased in others in 2013. The fee was in 2013 between 0 and SEK 300 depending on what union. The co-financing fee was removed in 2014.

2.2 Calculation of benefit amount

2.2.1 Calculation of gross benefit

Gross replacement rate is 80 per cent of previous earnings for 200 days and then 70 per cent for the next 100 days. The maximum daily benefit is SEK 680 (yearly equivalent SEK 176 800). The minimum daily benefit is SEK 320 (yearly equivalent SEK 83 200).

2.2.2 Income and earnings disregards for benefit recipients and those starting a new job

The benefit is reduced in proportion of the number of days worked. Family and housing benefits can be paid in addition. There are no special family benefits. They are part of the housing benefit system.

2.3 Tax treatment of benefit and interaction with other benefits

2.4 Benefit duration and waiting periods

4.1 Conditions for receipt

Social assistance is an income and assets-tested benefit, based on the obligation to exhaust all other means of support, and to be actively seeking employment. Social assistance is, according to the legislation, a right to a certain standard of living if no other means of income can be obtained.

Topping-up net incomes that fall below this standard is usually not possible. The claimant of social assistance has to claim all government financed allowances before coming to the municipally assistance. About 5,7 % of the households have social assistance for one month or more in 2012.

4.2 Calculation of benefit amount

4.2.1 Calculation of gross benefit

The National Board of Health and Welfare (NBHW) is responsible for a national guideline norm for social assistance. The norm is calculated annually and has an individual part that depends on the marital status and the age of the child and a household part that depends on the size of the household. For 2014 the norm is as shown in the table below.

Family type	Rates at NBHW norms (SEK per month)	Household rate based on number of family members
Single	2 950	1 person	930
		2 people	1 040
Married couple / Cohabitants	5 320	3 people	1 310
Child <1 year	1 610	4 people	1 490
1-2 years	1 800	5 people	1 710
3 years	1 550	6 people	1 950
4-6 years	1 730	7 people	2 120
7-10 years	2 410
11-14 years	2 840
15-18 years	3 250
19-20 years	3 280

4.2.1.1 Irregular additional payments

Families that has received social Assistance for a long time get 3000 kr per year per child in grade 4 to 9 (Ages 9 to 14).

4.2.1.2 Obligations of family members

Each family member has to be active in supporting himself.

4.2.2 Income and earnings disregards for benefit recipients and those starting a new job

Maximum assistance benefit is reduced with 75 per cent of net income for those who have had assistance benefit for more than 6 months. For those less than six months the assistance benefit is reduced with 100 per cent. Net income is defined as earned and taxable social security income after income tax and social security contribution and including housing benefit, family allowance and maintenance advance that are not taxed.

4.3 Tax treatment of benefit and interaction with other benefits

Not taxable.

4.4 Benefit duration and waiting periods

Indefinite, as long as the conditions for receipt are met. Most people on social assistance need less than a year and the average is between 5 and 6 months.

4.5 Treatment of particular group

4.5.1 Young persons

No specific minimum age.

4.5.2 Older workers

There is a special support (Äldreförsörjningsstöd), for retired people, mostly with immigrant background, who have been in Sweden not long enough to get a full pension. This support is aimed at keeping them off the social assistance.

4.5.3 Others if applicable, including disabled

Newly arrived in Sweden can get establishment benefit. The benefit can be received when drawing up and carrying out an establishment plan. An introduction plan contains activities to support the person to quickly learn Swedish, find work and support themselves. If the plan contains full-time activities the benefit is SEK 308 per day. If it is a part-time plan the benefit is reduced proportionally. Those who have children younger than 11 years can get a supplementary benefit of SEK 800 per child and month. Older children entitles to a benefit of SEK 1500. Supplementary benefit can be received for a maximum of three children. It is also possible to apply for supplementary benefit up to SEK 3900 for housing.

5. Housing benefits for rented accommodation

Housing assistance exists in three main forms:

- The income-tested housing allowance, it varies according to age, the income, the housing cost, and the number of children.
- Rent is fully covered for social assistance claimants, as a supplement to the housing allowance.
- An income-tested housing supplement (BTP) exists for pensioners (outside the scope of this study).

Housing related support through other benefits		Rent fully covered for social assistance recipients

5.1 Conditions for receipt

Low income and children. Most recipients are single parents. About two thirds of the persons with housing benefits below age 29 are students. High marginal effects.

5.2 Calculation of benefit amount5.2.1 Calculation of gross benefit

Total housing costs are divided in brackets; 50 to 90 per cent per bracket is added to a flat benefit. The size of each bracket and the flat benefit rate depend on age and family situation (see table). The benefit is calculated on a monthly basis according to the expected income during the calendar year but the benefit received during a year is provisional and will be checked against the final income assessment. Capital income is also considered. Housing benefit may not exceed housing costs. Monthly benefits of less than SEK 100 are not paid.

Family composition	Housing costs (HC) (SEK per month)	Housing benefit (HB1) (before income-test)
Age < 29, with no child	0 – 1800	0
	1800 – 2600	90% of (HC – 1800)
	2600 – 3600	90% of (2600 – 1800) + 65% (HC – 2600)

	3600 +	90% of (2600 – 1800) + 65% (3600 – 2600)
Families:

	6600 +	2350 + 50% of (3600 – 1400) + 50% of (6600 – 3600)

5.2.2 Income and earnings disregards

The housing benefit is income-tested. Reduction rates and disregards depend on age and family situation:

Family composition	Gross income limit for the means-test (SEK per month)	Subsidy rate for the means-test (%)	Housing benefit, including the income-test (GI = gross income)
Single < 29, with no children	3417	33	HB1 – 33% (GI – 3417)
Lone parents	9750	20	HB1 – 20% (GI – 9750)
Families <29 with no children	4833	33	HB1 – 33% (GI – 4833)
Families with 1 or more children	4875/partner*	20	HB1 – 20% (GI(M) – 4875)-20%(GI(F)-4875)

* The partner with no income is not entitled to any housing benefit since 1995.

7. Childcare for pre-school children average 2013

- Age 1 49 %
- Age 2 90 %
- Age 3 94 %
- Age 4 96%
- Age 5 96 %
- Age 6 86 %
- Age 7 87 %
- Age 8 85 %

Compulsory schooling starts at age 7, but there is possible to start at age 6 and this age-group does often have special classes (Grade 0).

7.1 Out-of-pocket childcare fees paid by parents

Full-time childcare

Child-care is heavily subsidised by state and local governments. For the first pre-school child the fee is 3 per cent of the gross income (earned income plus unemployment benefits), for the second child the fee is 2 per cent and 1 per cent for the third child. There is a monthly cap of SEK 1 260, 840 and 420 for the 1st, 2nd and 3rd child respectively. With a yearly household income above SEK 504 000 there is no marginal effect and no extra fee. For school-children the percentages are 2, 1 and 1 respectively. The order of the child is according to the need of day-care – mostly the youngest are number one.

Childcare fees are not tax deductible.

Childcare fees are taken into account when determining entitlement to benefits such as social assistance.

Part-time childcare

Children to parents on parental leave (with a new baby) and children to parents that are unemployed have a right to at least 15 hours a week of childcare. These hours are cheaper than the ordinary fee. The local community can subsidize more than 15 hours a week and there is a variety of solutions according to the 290 communities. The fee is lower for part-time childcare than for fulltime. To pay the part-time fee the child can spend at most 30 hours per week at the preschool. For the first child the fee is 2 per cent of the gross income for the second and third child the fee is 1 per cent and 1 per cent. There is a monthly cap of SEK 840 for the first and 420 for the second and third child.

For children aged 3-6 there is general pre-school (allmän förskola). This means that 15 hours a week for 35 weeks (525 hours a year) there is supposed to be a special pedagogy and these hours are free of cost for the child.

This is a separate benefit the absent parent is supposed to pay. If the absent parent pays directly to the lone parent, then the state is not involved. If not, the state advances the money and then demand the absent parent to pay it in full or in part. This system of repayment has been enforced and more responsibility is put on absent parents to pay a larger share of the cost.

10.1.1.2 Standard tax credits

A tax credit equal to 100 per cent of the compulsory social security contributions paid by the employee is granted.

For a person aged under 65, an annual Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) worth up to SEK 26 486 at the average local tax rate is granted on labour income. For those aged over 65, a higher credit worth up to SEK 30 000 is granted. For a person aged 65 or under the EITC is calculated as follows: $EITC = (\text{Special Amount} - \text{Basic Allowance}) \times \text{local tax rate}$. For those older than 65 a simplified EITC was introduced in 2009 so that it is no longer connected to the local tax rate, the basic allowance or the basic amount. The Basic Allowance is determined in Section 10.1.1; the local tax rate is discussed in Section 10.1.3. The Basic Amount (BA) in 2015 is SEK44 500. The Special Amount is based on the taxpayer's (gross) earned income.

For taxpayers younger than 65, the Special Amount is calculated as follows:

Earned Income (EI)	Special Amount
– 0.91 BA	EI
0.91 BA – 2.94 BA	$0.91 \text{ BA} + 0.332 * (\text{EI} - 0.91 \text{ BA})$
2.94 BA – 8.08 BA	$1.584 \text{ BA} + 0.111 * (\text{EI} - 2.94 \text{ BA})$
8.08 BA –	2.155 BA

BA = SEK 44 500 (2015)

For taxpayers older than 65, the EITC is calculated differently:

Earned Income (EI)	EITC
– 100 000 SEK	$0.2 * \text{EI}$
100 000 – 300 000 SEK	$15\,000 \text{ SEK} + 0.05 * \text{EI}$
300 000 SEK –	30 000 SEK

10.1.2 Income tax schedule (central government income tax)

Taxable Income (SEK)	Tax (SEK) at lower bracket	For exceeding income, %
0 – 430 200	0	0
430 200– 616 100	0	20
Over 616 100	37 180	25

10.1.3 State and local income taxes

Sweden has both a central government and a local government personal income tax. They are completely coordinated in the assessment process and refer to the same period, i.e. the income year coincides with the calendar year.

The tax base is the same as for the central government income tax. The basic allowance for individuals paying local government tax varies between SEK 13 100 and SEK 34 300 (2015); it depends on the taxpayer's income. For a taxpayer earning the AW, this basic allowance amounts to SEK 13 100 (based on an AW equal to SEK 418 107 - subject to revision with the AW).

The local government personal income tax is proportional and differs between municipalities. The average rate amounts to 31.99 per cent in 2015, with the maximum and minimum rates being 34.70 per cent and 29.19 per cent, respectively.

A 0.22% contribution is made towards funeral fees, this is included in the total local tax payable in the models.

10.2 Treatment of family income

Spouses are taxed separately.

10.3 Social security contributions and payroll taxes10.3.1 Contributions payable by employees and benefit recipients

A general pension contribution of 7 per cent of personal income is paid by employees and the self-employed when income is equal to or greater than 42.3 per cent of the basic amount underlying the basic allowance (see Section 1.121). The contribution cannot exceed SEK 32 800 since the general pension contributions are not paid for income over SEK 468 867 (=8.07*58 100). The employees' contribution is offset with a tax credit.

10.3.2 Contributions payable by employers

The employers' contributions are calculated as a percentage of the total sum of salaries and benefits in a year. For the self-employed, the base is net business income. The rates for 2015 are listed below.

Program	Employer (%)	Self-employed (%)
Retirement pension	10.21	10.21
Survivor's pension	1.17	1.17
Parental insurance	2.60	2.60
Health insurance	4.35	4.44
Labour market	2.64	0.10
Occupational health	0.30	0.30
General wage tax	10.15	10.15
Total	31.42	28.97

In certain regions, a reduction of 10 percentage points of the social security contributions, maximum SEK 7 100 per month, is granted (SEK 18 000 per year for self-employed) (it is not included in the tax-benefit model calculations). Until the 31st of April a reduced SSC rate of 15.49 per cent is applied (14.88 per cent for self-employed) for employees younger than 27. From the 1st of May the SSC rate for employees under 24 years old is 10.21 per cent (10.21 per cent also for self-employed) and for employees younger than 26, but older than 23 it is 15.49 per cent (14.88 for self-employed), while the rate is no longer reduced for those who are 26 years old. From the 1st of August the SSC rate for all employees under 26 years old is still reduced but at the rate of 25.46 per cent (23.69 per cent for self-employed). For employees who are over 65 years old and born after 1937 only the retirement pension contribution (10.21 per cent) is applicable. For persons born in 1937 or earlier no employers' social security contributions are applied. For individuals working with research and development in private sector a reduction of 10 per cent of the base is granted, maximum 230 000 SEK per business group and month. On premiums for occupational pensions paid by the employer there is a payroll tax applied with a tax rate of 24.26 per cent.

ANNEX

DEFINITION OF SOCIAL SECURITY CONTRIBUTIONS AND PAYROLL TAXES.

The following text has been adapted from Annex A of the OECD Revenue Statistics.

Social security contributions to general government

Classified here are all compulsory payments that confer an entitlement to receive a (contingent) future social benefit. Such payments are usually earmarked to finance social benefits and are often paid to institutions of general government that provide such benefits. However, such earmarking is not part of the definition of social security contributions and is not required for a tax to be classified here. However, conferment of an entitlement is required for a tax to be classified under this heading. So, levies on income or payroll that are earmarked for social security funds but do not confer an entitlement to benefit are excluded from this heading and shown under personal income taxes or taxes on payroll and workforce. Taxes on other bases, such as goods and services, which are earmarked for social security benefits are not shown here [...] because they generally confer no entitlement to social security benefits.

Contributions for the following types of social security benefits would, inter alia, be included: unemployment insurance benefits and supplements, accident, injury and sickness benefits, old-age, disability and survivors' pensions, family allowances, reimbursements for medical and hospital expenses or provision of hospital or medical services. Contributions may be levied on both employees and employers.

Social security contributions paid to institutions outside general government

Contributions to social insurance schemes which are not institutions of general government and to other types of insurance schemes, provident funds, pension funds, friendly societies or other saving schemes [are included here if they are compulsory or quasicompulsory (e.g., by virtue of agreement with professional and union organisations)]. Provident funds are arrangements under which the contributions of each employee and of the corresponding employer on his/her behalf are kept in a separate account earning interest and withdrawable under specific circumstances. Pension funds are separately organised schemes negotiated between employees and employers and carry provisions for different contributions and benefits, sometimes more directly tied to salary levels and length of service than under social security schemes.

Payroll taxes

This heading covers taxes paid by employers or employees either as a proportion of payroll or as a fixed amount per person, and which do not confer entitlement to social benefits. Examples of taxes classified here are the United Kingdom national insurance surcharge (introduced in 1977), the Swedish payroll tax (1969-1979), and the Austrian Contribution to the Family Burden Equalisation Fund and Community Tax.
